

Editors' Introduction: Fall 2021 Issue #5

We are pleased to share with you the fifth issue of the PHRS Bulletin. In our ongoing aim to use your time carefully, we are now producing shorter issues that we expect will always feature an interview with a leading PHRS scholar, at least one substantive article, and updated resources and announcements as there are many ongoing and exciting advancements in the field. Going forward, we will re-bundle the spring and fall issues of the Bulletin into an “annual issue” to allow another opportunity to engage with PHRS content. We have also updated our website to display all of our past articles in a way that is more accessible if, for example, you want to read more from our interview series, or find a piece written by a scholar you admire, or learn about the integration of religion, spirituality, and public health from of an early career professional. Here are some clickable links:

- Download a PDF of the new full Issue 5
- View All Articles by Type
- View All Articles by Date

As always, we hope this note finds you and your loved ones healthy and well. Happy reading!

Warmly,

The PHRS Editorial Team
Kate Long, Angela Monahan, and Doug Oman

Katelyn Long, DrPH
knlong@hsph.harvard.edu
Coeditor

Angela Monahan, MPH
angela_monahan@berkeley.edu
angela.grace.monahan@gmail.com
Assistant Editor

Doug Oman, PhD
dougoman@berkeley.edu
Coeditor